

London Advertisements.

THE DAILY NEWS.

"THE DAILY NEWS" (London, England) offers to all residents in the United States who wish to communicate with the English public news and facilities.

The circulation of "THE DAILY NEWS" has received an extraordinary increase during the last two years, from the popularity with the character of its Foreign and General Intelligence. The increase in its sale is upward of one hundred per cent., and "THE DAILY NEWS," being now second to no English newspaper in the number of readers, is unparaled as a medium for all classes of advertisements; while, as an organ of English opinion, it has special recommendations to Americans. The high reputation of "THE DAILY NEWS" on all financial subjects, causes it to be consulted by bankers, merchants, brokers, lawyers, &c., and it is consequently the best channel for Financial Advertisements of every kind.

THE WAR CORRESPONDENCE of "THE DAILY NEWS," published last year, has had an extraordinary sale, twelve editions having been already reached. Subjoined are a few of the criticisms of its contemporaries, in England and elsewhere:

MORNING POST.

"The whole correspondence forms a series of graphic pictures."

ATHENÆUM.

"Of all the contributions to the history of the war, there is none more useful than that volume."

ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

"The Special Correspondent of 'THE DAILY NEWS' have our passed the clout of all those employed by the other journals."

SPECTATOR.

"THE DAILY NEWS" has won by far the richest in correspondence value since the war began."

PALL MALL GAZETTE.

"The merits of the correspondence produced by 'THE DAILY NEWS' depended not only upon its singular propria, but also on its inherent excellence, as being at once clear, accurate, and pleasurable."

SATURDAY REVIEW.

"THE DAILY NEWS" has greatly distinguished itself throughout the war by the richness of its information."

THE FORTNIGHTLY REVIEW.

"There is no need to concern the war correspondence of 'THE DAILY NEWS' to persons who recall the accounts of the battles of Gravelotte and Sedan, and of the terrible photographic pictures of Metz during and after the siege."

GLOBE.

"The War Correspondents of 'THE DAILY NEWS' have earned for paper a prominent reputation."

GUARDIAN.

"The excellence of 'THE DAILY NEWS' correspondents has been a matter of common notoriety and general confession."

BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW.

"Probably no account of the recent campaigns so easily satisfied our modern thirst for the photographs. The description of the battle of Gravelotte and Sedan, and of the terrible photographic pictures of Metz during and after the siege."

THE BIRMINGHAM POST.

"The transient article which 'THE DAILY NEWS' has taken during the war, displays a uniformly brilliant repartee over its column purport, has naturally excited both curiosity and admiration."

ILLUSTRATED TIMES.

"To criticize these letters is superfluous; their marvellous ability and wonderful accuracy were universally acknowledged as they appeared."

EXAMINER.

"Earlier and fuller information than any other paper has given about the war has appeared in 'THE DAILY NEWS'."

THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW.

"Most Englishmen know the value for all purposes of the communications published in 'THE DAILY NEWS,' as the most critical events were evolving themselves. It was out of this correspondence that the systematic efforts were made in this country to succor the United States.

NEW YORK TRIBUNE.

"'THE DAILY NEWS' has distanced all other European journals in the fulness, promptness, and accuracy of its news."

CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

"It is the most important and accurate contribution to the history of the war we have yet seen."

THE DEUTSCHE ZEITUNG (BERLIN).

"The superiority of the descriptions of the war which were furnished by 'THE DAILY NEWS' was acknowledged. Therefore, the collection, with an historic commentary, and the connected exposures of the events of the war, which is thus produced, must be pronounced in the highest degree useful. The Correspondents of 'THE DAILY NEWS' excelled those of all other journals in promptitude, copiousness, and accuracy."

Another reprint from the columns of "THE DAILY NEWS" is the "Diary of the Besieged Resident" in Paris, of which the following sources have been copied:

TIMES.

"The missing letters of the 'Besieged Resident' are now inferior to those that have had a first success in the columns of a contemporary newspaper. It seems certain that the deplorable events and unwholesome actions of which the 'Besieged' in the chronicle will have to take into account in any truthful narrative of the great siege."

SPECTATOR.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

PALL MALL GAZETTE.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

MORNING POST.

"The personal element in these letters was unquestionably that which gave them their charm. It seems certain that the deplorable events and unwholesome actions of which the 'Besieged' in the chronicle will have to take into account in any truthful narrative of the great siege."

THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW.

"The personal element in these letters was unquestionably that which gave them their charm. It seems certain that the deplorable events and unwholesome actions of which the 'Besieged' in the chronicle will have to take into account in any truthful narrative of the great siege."

EXAMINER.

"The letters are very smartly written."

THE GRAPHIC.

"The 'Diary of the Besieged Resident' needs no commendation from us. You folks at Versailles pronounced it very interesting. At home it depicts with truthfulness the scenes in the same journal, the place of honor among the war correspondence of the period."

NEW YORK POST.

"Most completely is the truth of the 'Besieged Resident's' view corroborated by the revelations contained in the diary which the resident of Paris has so much diligence and persistent observation. Some of the scenes from the same paper are very stunning, and serve, in conjunction with numerous little anecdotes, to brighten up the heavier portions of the diary, as well as enlighten us on the various points relating to the progress of the siege. . . . These desultory remarks afford a brief idea of the contents of this comprehensive and able-written volume. We have, however, abstained from a closer examination of the work to avoid foretelling the interest which it will be read. Parts of the diary are now printed for the first time, and thus complete a narrative which even in its imperfect state was received with great favor."

EXAMINER.

"The letters of 'The Besieged Resident' from Paris were of great interest when they appeared from time to time in 'THE DAILY NEWS.' They give a lively, minute, and in the main accurate description of affairs in Paris during the early part of the siege, and the author's own words will be published which will help to explain the views of the others, and we certainly cannot expect to find elsewhere so much fullness of detail."

THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

PALL MALL GAZETTE.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

VANITY FAIR.

"The letters are very smartly written."

THE GRAPHIC.

"The 'Diary of the Besieged Resident' needs no commendation from us. You folks at Versailles pronounced it very interesting. At home it depicts with truthfulness the scenes in the same journal, the place of honor among the war correspondence of the period."

NEW YORK POST.

"Most completely is the truth of the 'Besieged Resident's' view corroborated by the revelations contained in the diary which the resident of Paris has so much diligence and persistent observation. Some of the scenes from the same paper are very stunning, and serve, in conjunction with numerous little anecdotes, to brighten up the heavier portions of the diary, as well as enlighten us on the various points relating to the progress of the siege. . . . These desultory remarks afford a brief idea of the contents of this comprehensive and able-written volume. We have, however, abstained from a closer examination of the work to avoid foretelling the interest which it will be read. Parts of the diary are now printed for the first time, and thus complete a narrative which even in its imperfect state was received with great favor."

EXAMINER.

"The letters of 'The Besieged Resident' from Paris were of great interest when they appeared from time to time in 'THE DAILY NEWS.' They give a lively, minute, and in the main accurate description of affairs in Paris during the early part of the siege, and the author's own words will be published which will help to explain the views of the others, and we certainly cannot expect to find elsewhere so much fullness of detail."

THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

PALL MALL GAZETTE.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

VANITY FAIR.

"The letters are very smartly written."

THE GRAPHIC.

"The 'Diary of the Besieged Resident' needs no commendation from us. You folks at Versailles pronounced it very interesting. At home it depicts with truthfulness the scenes in the same journal, the place of honor among the war correspondence of the period."

NEW YORK POST.

"Most completely is the truth of the 'Besieged Resident's' view corroborated by the revelations contained in the diary which the resident of Paris has so much diligence and persistent observation. Some of the scenes from the same paper are very stunning, and serve, in conjunction with numerous little anecdotes, to brighten up the heavier portions of the diary, as well as enlighten us on the various points relating to the progress of the siege. . . . These desultory remarks afford a brief idea of the contents of this comprehensive and able-written volume. We have, however, abstained from a closer examination of the work to avoid foretelling the interest which it will be read. Parts of the diary are now printed for the first time, and thus complete a narrative which even in its imperfect state was received with great favor."

EXAMINER.

"The letters of 'The Besieged Resident' from Paris were of great interest when they appeared from time to time in 'THE DAILY NEWS.' They give a lively, minute, and in the main accurate description of affairs in Paris during the early part of the siege, and the author's own words will be published which will help to explain the views of the others, and we certainly cannot expect to find elsewhere so much fullness of detail."

THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

PALL MALL GAZETTE.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

VANITY FAIR.

"The letters are very smartly written."

THE GRAPHIC.

"The 'Diary of the Besieged Resident' needs no commendation from us. You folks at Versailles pronounced it very interesting. At home it depicts with truthfulness the scenes in the same journal, the place of honor among the war correspondence of the period."

NEW YORK POST.

"Most completely is the truth of the 'Besieged Resident's' view corroborated by the revelations contained in the diary which the resident of Paris has so much diligence and persistent observation. Some of the scenes from the same paper are very stunning, and serve, in conjunction with numerous little anecdotes, to brighten up the heavier portions of the diary, as well as enlighten us on the various points relating to the progress of the siege. . . . These desultory remarks afford a brief idea of the contents of this comprehensive and able-written volume. We have, however, abstained from a closer examination of the work to avoid foretelling the interest which it will be read. Parts of the diary are now printed for the first time, and thus complete a narrative which even in its imperfect state was received with great favor."

EXAMINER.

"The letters of 'The Besieged Resident' from Paris were of great interest when they appeared from time to time in 'THE DAILY NEWS.' They give a lively, minute, and in the main accurate description of affairs in Paris during the early part of the siege, and the author's own words will be published which will help to explain the views of the others, and we certainly cannot expect to find elsewhere so much fullness of detail."

THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

PALL MALL GAZETTE.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

VANITY FAIR.

"The letters are very smartly written."

THE GRAPHIC.

"The 'Diary of the Besieged Resident' needs no commendation from us. You folks at Versailles pronounced it very interesting. At home it depicts with truthfulness the scenes in the same journal, the place of honor among the war correspondence of the period."

NEW YORK POST.

"Most completely is the truth of the 'Besieged Resident's' view corroborated by the revelations contained in the diary which the resident of Paris has so much diligence and persistent observation. Some of the scenes from the same paper are very stunning, and serve, in conjunction with numerous little anecdotes, to brighten up the heavier portions of the diary, as well as enlighten us on the various points relating to the progress of the siege. . . . These desultory remarks afford a brief idea of the contents of this comprehensive and able-written volume. We have, however, abstained from a closer examination of the work to avoid foretelling the interest which it will be read. Parts of the diary are now printed for the first time, and thus complete a narrative which even in its imperfect state was received with great favor."

EXAMINER.

"The letters of 'The Besieged Resident' from Paris were of great interest when they appeared from time to time in 'THE DAILY NEWS.' They give a lively, minute, and in the main accurate description of affairs in Paris during the early part of the siege, and the author's own words will be published which will help to explain the views of the others, and we certainly cannot expect to find elsewhere so much fullness of detail."

THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW.

"The 'Besieged Resident' is a keen-sighted man of the world, a lively, sometimes even whimsical humorist, and a free-and-easy reporter of the incidents he saw or heard, is one of the most entertaining authors whom the war has brought forth."

PALL MALL G